GRIM AND DESOLATE aftermath of the fire that raged behind Monrovia and Azusa is depicted in this photograph of a destroyed home on Norumbega Dr. in Monrovia. The fire consumed 12,970 acres, burned eight homes and 26 cabins and damaged eight other cabins. Forestry officials are now planning to re-seed the scorched watershed which will present a severe flood hazard this winter.

Mayor Urges Support
For Water DistrictDemos
Make
Big Gains

California voters have registered in record numbers to cast ballots in the November election, with a big edge going to the Democrats.

In the 21st Congressional District, which includes Sierra Madre, there are 314,519 voters and approximately 25,000 more registered Democrats than Republicans. The figures are:

Democratic	164,675
Republican	139,873
Prohibition	374
Decline to state	7,186
Others	2,411

THE 48TH Assembly District remained heavily Republican. The breakdown shows the GOP with 52,022; Demos, 30,524; Prohibition, 254; decline to state, 1,948; others, 471. The total is 85,219.

In Sierra Madre, 5,566 voters have registered and the city, as expected, is heavily Republican. There were 4,970 voters here in the April city election. The breakdown follows:

Republican	3,455
Democratic	1,929
Prohibition	7
Decline to state	128
Others	47

STATE registration figures as released by Secretary of State Jordan bid down to this:

1. A total of 6,752,421 Californians have registered to vote Nov. 4. This is 344,000 more voters than were registered in the 1956 general election which President Eisenhower beat Adlai Stevenson.

2. Nearly three times as many voters have registered Democratic than Republican since the June primary. Jordan's figure showed 333,256 Democrats have registered and 123,887 Republicans.

3. There are 1,200,000 more Democrats than Republicans eligible to vote in the November election—3,875,630 to 2,675,565.

4. Los Angeles County increased its political importance by gaining nearly half of the 472,245 voters registered since the primary. It now has over 41 per cent of all the state's voters.

The county has 500,000 more Democrats than Republicans, and increase of 158,000 Democrats from the primary. The GOP increased by 52,000 voters.

Democrats are in the majority now in every county except four—Alpine (which has only 198 registered voters), Marin, Orange and Santa Barbara.

Ad-Rime Starts Today

The Ad-Rime contest which can be fun for the whole family starts today in The Sierra Madre News.

Anybody except employees of The Sierra Madre News and members of their families are eligible to enter. A cash prize of $10 will be awarded each week to the winner. At the end of the contest a $50 award will be made to the Ad-Rime judged most outstanding.

The rules are simple. First, find the slogan hidden in the big advertisement on Page 6. Then think up a rhyme to the line, "Sierra Madre District Shopping Guide," and send your rhyme and the hidden slogan to The Sierra Madre News, Sierra Madre, Calif.

Detailed rules are found with the ad on Page 6. Good luck!

Just Plain Lazy,
Say Demos

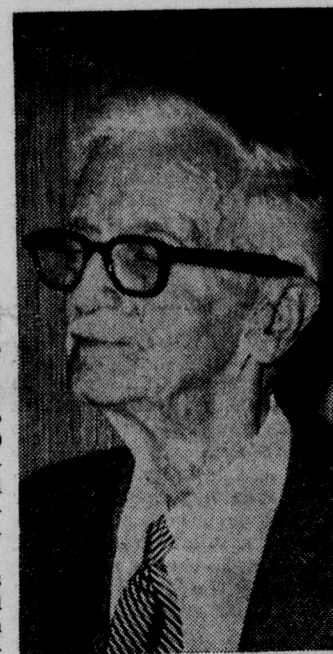

Devoted and ambitious as they are, local Republicans do not have quite the manpower, even in Sierra Madre, to operate their campaign headquarters from "5 p.m. to election" as reported two weeks ago.

Actually, GOP headquarters at 32 W. Sierra Madre Blvd., will be open from 10 a.m. to 12 noon and from 3 to 5 p.m., Monday through Friday, every week until the November election.

Tony Cavalli
Resigns From
C. of C. Post

Anthony Cavalli, secretary-manager of the Sierra Madre Chamber of Commerce for the past four years, has resigned effective Dec. 1.

Mr. Cavalli announced his decision to retire at Chamber Board of Directors meeting early this week. He has been plagued in past months by ill health.

Long active in Chamber of Commerce work, Mr. Cavalli came to California in 1930 from New York City.

He worked successively as secretary-manager in Santa Ana, San Pedro, Downey, South Pasadena and Sierra Madre.

"Tony is a true gentleman," said Robert Green, Chamber president. "We regret his decision to leave. We will miss him here."

CARLTON J. PEGLER receives plaque from Mayor Charles H. James in recognition of his 44 years' service as city treasurer. The presentation was made by the mayor, city councilmen and Police Chief Gordon McMillan last Thursday evening. The plaque reads: "Carlton J. Pegler, in recognition of 44 years as treasurer for the City of Sierra Madre. David S. Wood, mayor, 1958; John G. Blumer, mayor, 1914."

No Current Need
Seen to Join County

Support for a new water district which would include Sierra Madre and several other cities was urged by Mayor Charles H. James at the second annual Good Neighbor dinner Monday evening.

The new district which, if formed, would enable Sierra Madre to stay out of the Metropolitan Water District, and possibly would include Alhambra, Azusa, Monterey Park as well as Sierra Madre.

"In the near future," said Mayor James, "petitions will be circulated for your signatures. This is a necessary step in the formation of a new district. We need your support."

REASONS WHY we should not join the Metropolitan Water District, the mayor said, include:

1. It would cost Sierra Madre $460,000 in back taxes. Including interest, this figure would swell to $800,000 over a 30-year period.

2. Sierra Madre now has plenty of water and has no reason to join the Metropolitan Water District.

3. We have entered into an agreement with Arcadia to buy water if an emergency arises.

"From our point of view (the City Council)," said Mayor James, "it is perfectly safe to stay out of the Metropolitan Water District at this time."

CURRENTLY, cities in the Upper San Gabriel Valley are in the process of forming a municipal water district, the first step to joining the Metropolitan Water District. Many cities must be assured of a supply of water and have decided that it is to their advantage to join the Metropolitan District, the mayor explained. In order to spread the cost, these cities want every municipality in the area to join.

Other cities, however, feel they do not need the Metropolitan District and are exploring methods of staying out of it.

AT THE same time, these cities, which include Sierra Madre, no want to hinder the other communities, which obviously need water immediately, in their efforts to join the Metropolitan District.

If included in the larger water district, the only method of staying out of it would be to defeat the proposal at an election. This would hinder the cities in need.

This is why Sierra Madre, Alhambra, Azusa and Monterey Park are exploring the possibilities of forming a district of their own.

ABOUT 70 Sierra Madrans, including city officials and the heads of civic organizations, attended the Good Neighbor dinner, which was sponsored this year by the Coordinating Council.

Dr. Paul Narcowich, chairman, president, and Mrs. Thomas Ames, Coordinating Council President, introduced the heads of civic groups.

Dr. Narcowich was presented a scroll and a pin from Shirley Williams of the County Department of Community Services in recognition of his efforts in behalf of the Coordinating Council.

ENTERTAINMENT included a trio, "Treasures of Sierra Madre," which sang several numbers. Members of the group are Mary Toms, Wad, Rosa Cason and Helen Hawkins.

Also, Carl Engel from The Music Shop demonstrated hi-fi equipment using a stereophonic tape recording.

Rev. Chilton C. McPeeters of the Methodist Church gave the invocation and benediction.

Art Tour
Is Success

The art tour last Sunday sponsored by the Exhibits Committee, Friends of the Library, was a "tremendous success," William Palmer, president, said yesterday.

Funds raised, Palmer said, are expected to total more than $150, which will be used to help finance the annual Purchase Prize show in the Library. The exhibit this year will be in watercolors.

"The backing and enthusiasm of the public," Palmer said, "has given the Exhibits Committee encouragement for making this standard procedure for raising money for our annual exhibit."

Voters Have 15
Days to File
Absentee Ballots

Applications for absentee ballots for the general election in November must be filed with the registrar of voters between Oct. 15 and Oct. 30.

Application blanks are available at both Democratic and Republican Headquarters here on the south side of Sierra Madre Blvd. Any registered voter who expects to be away on election day may obtain one.

Application blanks may also be obtained from Republican and Democratic precinct captains.

Great Books
Group Starts
Year Tomorrow

The Sierra Madre Great Books group begins its third year with a discussion of the "Book of Job" tomorrow night at the Library Art Gallery. The meeting starts at 8 o'clock.

In addition to the discussion, the group will select a night on which to hold its every-other-week meetings for the rest of the year.

Newcomers are welcome to join the "great conversation" with the most important minds of all time, from Plato to Freud. For further information, call ELgin 5-8192.

Group discussions this year will be led by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Forest.

Law Would Cause
Discord, Says Chief

Opposition to the proposed modification of the city administration ordinance was expressed last week by Police Chief Gordon McMillan at a meeting of the City Council.

The ordinance, if amended, would give the city administrator authority to recommend to the City Council the appointment and discharge of members of the Police Department and the fire chief.

At present only the Police Chief recommends police appointments, and the fire chief is picked by members of the Volunteer Fire Department.

CHIEF McMILLAN outlined his opposition in the following steps:

1. Sierra Madre is a general law city and as such the police chief has authority to hire and fire members of his department, with concurrence of the City Council.

2. Under the new proposal, policemen might feel free to go over the police chief's head to the city administrator, thus causing dissension within the department.

"I'm proud of the record of this Police Department in the 29 years I've been chief," said McMillan. "My tenure of office as head of the department is exceeded by only four other chiefs in California."

To improve the Police Department, McMillan suggested better quarters, an improved retirement system and a higher wage scale.

FIRE CHIEF Charles Brown also opposed the suggested amendment, pointing out that volunteer firemen want the privilege of selecting their own chief.

"As long as we stick to our by-laws," said Chief Brown, "we get along fine. I wouldn't want to see them changed."

"I know we have some long-range planning to do, but at present we're well situated."

Councilman Milton Emerson suggested that perhaps policemen could be selected from a list prepared by the State Personnel Board. This system, he said, would take the matter almost entirely out of the hands of city officials.

Coordinating Council to Hear
Psychologist

A consulting psychologist will speak before members of the Coordinating Council Oct. 14 at the home of Council President Mrs. Thomas Ames, 305 Ramona. The meeting will start at 8 p.m.

The Council's Mental Health Committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. George Lindsay, will also attend.

The speaker will be Dr. Jean Devening, Ph.D., a consulting psychologist in San Marino, who will discuss "Preventive Psychology in the Community."

The Mental Health Committee will present a report based on a survey of mental health needs and facilities. The study was recently completed.

Mr. Newton has worked on similar projects in Temple City and Rosemead, and his appointment here was recommended by Howard Morgridge, school architect.

An inspector on school building projects is required by the State Division of Architecture.

AT THE School Board meeting last Monday, G. Norman Kennedy complained that the buses cause his children to arrive late at school and late returning home.

Water Cost Seen at $800,000

(This is the final article on the water problem presently facing Sierra Madre, a problem which may lead to the formation of a new municipal water district.)

By Lawrence C. Bevington
City Administrator

To examine the Sierra Madre picture, let's review what has happened in the past.

The City of Sierra Madre was involved in the Raymond Basin law suit from 1937 to 1950, which decided by court decree the amount of water rights which should be assigned to each water user. Sierra Madre was assigned rights for 1,264 acre feet per year. (An acre foot is water one foot deep over one acre of land or 43,560 cubic feet of water.)

In addition, the City was and is entitled to the flow from the tunnels installed many years ago adjacent to the Sierra Madre Reservoir. This amounted to 335 acre feet last year. In 1955 the amount of water available was restudied and the rights of Sierra Madre were increased to 1,764 acre feet. The total water usage last year was 2,088 acre feet so it can be seen that this amount plus the tunnel flow approximately equals the needs of Sierra Madre each year.

THE RAYMOND BASIN suit also set up what is known as an exchange agreement by which Sierra Madre can purchase pumping rights from Arcadia during any year when it is known in advance that Sierra Madre will be short of water. These are pumping rights and Sierra Madre would pump the water out of the ground.

Sierra Madre also has an agreement with Arcadia by which water can be purchased and actually delivered into the reservoir system of Sierra Madre in times of shortage or emergency. The City also has investigated various privately owned water rights which are no longer needed by the owner. None of these to date have been usable, but the City will purchase any which would be of use to the City.

A final water source which has been developed by Sierra Madre and probably is the key to future decisions of the City is the spreading rights to the run-off waters of the Santa Anita Creek.

Starting in the winter of 1950-1951, the City has taken water from the Santa Anita Creek, the Little Santa Anita Creek (Sierra Madre Wash) and from the street run-off in the City, and spread this water in the 16-acre plot which can be observed just east of Sycamore Pl. on Grand View Ave.

A total of 7,292 acre feet has been settled in these grounds, over the eight-year period 1950 to 1958, and credit has been given to the City for 75 per cent of this water, or approximately 5,475 acre feet. As of July 1, 1958, there is a credit remaining to Sierra Madre of 2,458.6 acre feet. This spreading grounds has been developed at considerable expense to the City, both in land set aside and in construction costs which include a pipe line from the Santa Anita Creek in Arcadia and the construction work on the 16 basins.

A STUDY of the costs which are incurred when joining the Metropolitan Water District indicates one big reason why Sierra Madre does not feel that it should join the Metropolitan District at this time, after taking all the steps and incurring the expenses noted above.

It is calculated that the present cost to the City for the back taxes on Metropolitan District improvements would be $460,000. Since this would be paid over a period of 30 years, the total cost for principal and interest at 4 per cent would be approximately $800,000. This would average $26,600 per year and at our present assessed valuation would represent a 21 per cent tax rate.

In addition, the City would be required to carry the current Metropolitan Water District taxes which vary from year to year, but a 20-cent rate would probably represent a good average.

In other words, before we (Continued on Page 10)

Alice-in-Wonderland Politics

The few weeks before an election are of vast interest to many of us, particularly in California with its frequent Alice-In-Wonderland quality.

In the 21st Congressional District, Mr. Hiestand, it has been reported from a biased source, is alarmed over the vigor displayed by his opponent, Rudd Brown, wife of Caltech professor Dr. Harrison Brown, granddaughter of William Jennings Byran, and a student of the Mid-East.

Discounting some wishful thinking from the Democrats, it seems, indeed, that Mr. Hiestand has cause for alarm.

NOT ONLY is the national trend running against the GOP, but our redoubtable Congressman is also facing the most formidable candidate to oppose him in a long time.

More serious from Hiestand's point of view is the fact that Democratic registration has picked up in the 21st District. There are now approximately 25,000 more registered Democrats than Republicans in the 21st, a net gain of about 8,100.

To win, Rudd Brown must hold a high percentage of the Democratic and gain a smattering of Republican votes.

In the Sierra Madre area, it appears obvious that Rudd Brown's campaign is aimed at capturing some liberal Republican votes and many of those cast by independents.

NEVERTHELESS, Mr. Hiestand, a rock-ribbed conservative whose principal whipping boy is Walter Reuther and whose hero is Sen. Knowland, will not be easy to defeat.

Mr. Hiestand is an extremely hard-working congressman; he's personable and adept at performing the small tasks and favors that win friends and influence votes.

These qualities, despite a political philosophy that would at times make the late John Q. Adams blush, are frequently more effective in garnering votes than idealism or intellect.

THE STATE-WIDE scene is truly wondrous to behold.

Here we have Sen. Knowland fiercely defending his right-to-work proposal which would outlaw union shop agreements between employers and unions, while other GOP starwatts have decided, apparently, that expediency is the better part of valor in this case.

It's pretty hard to determine where Nixon and Eisenhower stand on this issue, but Gov. Knight's plank is no secret. He's "agin" it.

But that's not all. As quoted in the September issue of Frontier Magazine, Knight has some amazing things to say about the people upon whom he must count for support, both at the polls and to some extent in the matter of campaign contributions.

"You know what?" Knight was quoted as saying. At least 65 per cent of the Republicans in this state are living in the 19th Century. Adlai Stevenson had them pegged when he said they were being dragged, kicking and screaming, into the 20th Century.

NEXT, THE candidate for U.S. Senator for the GOP described a conference with Republican leaders and contributors at which he asked them where they got some of their ideas and figures on labor contributions to block the right-to-work initiative. Their ideas came, these leaders said, from Life Magazine and Saturday Evening Post.

"No wonder they're confused," Knight said. "I told them, 'You read these magazines and you get the same political line that's blinding you already.'"

Asked why he didn't change his registration, Knight replied:

"I'm technically one of the leading Republicans in California."

But the main reason, he added, is advice given him by Franklin D. Roosevelt that it is better to attempt to change the party than to change registration.

Yes, this will be a fascinating election in this never-never land — the Golden State of California.—H.W.E.

CHECKS AND BALANCES

To the Editor:

I want to go on record as opposing the proposal that control of personnel in our police and fire departments should be vested in the City Administrator. American government, from the national to the local level, is a system of checks and balances. Concentrate too much power in one office and you have bureaucracy. I say we have far too much of that now.

Let the police chief run his department, subject to the supervision of the Council. Let the fire chief, elected by our fire corps of volunteers, run his department. And let the city administrator, who has everything else under his wing, take care of the full load he is now carrying.

WILLIAM K. KEITH

DISPUTES SHIPPEY

Dear Mr. Editor:

Nothing in your last issue that Mr. Shippey has again moved to the attack. I take my typewriter in hand to make answer as the situation appears to me.

First, Sherman Aams. The facts are that Mr. Adams was a devoted public servant and a highly efficient chief of staff. I am sure he made enemies by saying "no" to important people, or people who thought themselves important. Of all the tribunals in this country, the one that carries the greatest hazard to an innocent accused is the congressional investigating committee.

Yet even here, where prejudice outweighs evidence, Mr. Adams was found not guilty. I think he showed poor judgment in the one dramatic incident that his enemies seized upon and tried to convert into dishonesty. But the country's stingy answer in '52 to the widespread corruption and communism in Mr. Truman's executive branch still hurts the Democrats, and they are not above attempting to manufacture a myth of dishonesty where none exists.

SECOND, Trujillo. Here I think Mr. Shippey is being less than fair. The Command and General Staff School at Ft. Leavenworth, like any school worthy of the name, has its standards. Trujillo, Jr., failed. Does Mr. Shippey suggest that he should have been awarded a diploma, and that Mr. Dulles should have seen to it? After all, the neurosis of dictators are always with us and we can't appease them all.

THIRD, Chiang Kai-shek. Mainland China, with its countless armies, most of them freedom-loving individuals, was lost to the Communist world by the last Democratic administration. The Reds were only "agrarian reformers," and Korea was "outside the perimeter of the free world's defense," so Mr. Truman's helpers advised him.

Whom should we support in China if not Chiang? Mao Or should we pull out and let what remains go the way of the rest, into the orbit that most Chinese, in and out of Formosa, hold in deadly fear? We will not avoid war but for friendship — during prohibition days, Harry was a completely modest, unostentatious citizen but he was always a good neighbor and a good American.

Lee Shippey asks

What Do
You Think?

The President chose a general to succeed Sherman Adams. Seems to me he needed an expert in statecraft rather than an expert in military matters. Our policies have been a little too much affected by generals — including one generalissimo. Sometimes I fear our diplomacy is in danger of "general" debility.

IN AN election year most of the big newspapers, nearly all of which are Republican, hire other pollsters, even if they already have the Gallup Poll, in hope of influencing public thinking by making impartial surveys from their own very partial point of view.

THIS COLUMN — if it ever gets to be a column — is written just as the World Series is starting, and I can't pretend to be much interested in world affairs, political affairs or even local affairs until the World Series is decided. So this is fair warning to anyone who has read this far that today's column may be sadly shy of pearls of thought. But what a blessing it is that the World Series or next Saturday's football games can, for the moment, make almost a whole nation forget all its worries — or all its other worries — in its enthusiasm for its favorite teams. There is something healthy, vital and tremendously invigorating in keen interest in clean and honorable sports, meaning sports which inspire good sportsmanship.

On the other hand, think how the whole nation would scorn and heap contempt on any player in the World Series who could be bought or would intentionally make an error which might lose a game for his side.

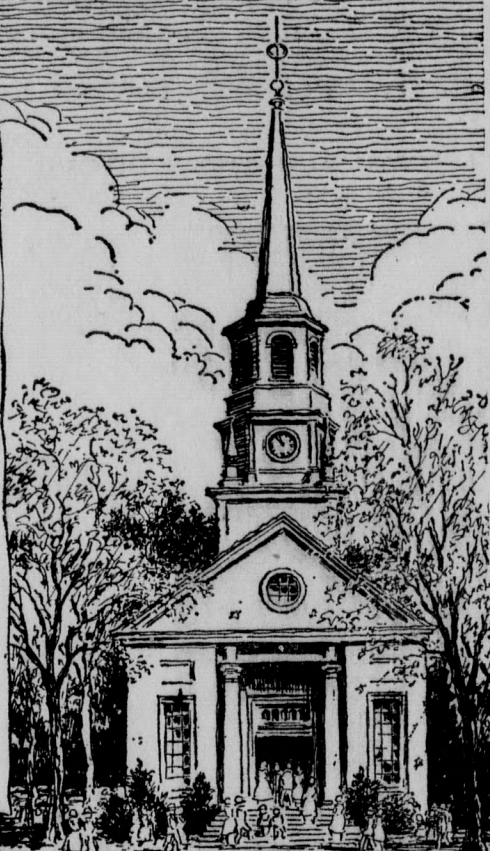

Unfortunately, though, there are plenty of persons who think themselves sportsmen who condone dirty play, if it favors their side.

If a man trying to steal second base intentionally knocks the man who might make a double play off his feet he is credited by too many of us with playing his game just right. If a football player intentionally injures the best passer on the opposing team he may be a hero to the rooters for his team, but he should be the disgrace of his school.

It is too bad that college football has become the great money-maker it is. When a great team may mean a profit of from $100,000 to half a million for a season, even college presidents look the other way while unsportsmanlike deals are made, and that it degrades to all our standards of honor.

I IMAGINE many another former Sierra Madren is just like we are. We eagerly look for The News but it saddens us to read so many obituaries of persons who held our affection or esteem while we lived there. For example, I always liked the spirit of Harry Holland, whose flagpole was the most noticeable thing about his home and who honored his country by flying its flag proudly on all proper occasions.

I also remember with pleasure the good wine Harry used to make — not for pay

Around the Square

By Tommy Ann Miller

National Fire Prevention Week got off to a blazing start in the San Gabriel Mountains. And until winds shifted and expert fire-fighters diverted the flames, local citizens feared a foothill holocaust like that of several seasons back.

On the evening the fire broke out, unnaturally warm breezes caused some people to wander restlessly (our own animal instincts wary) — imagining panicky wildlife racing to escape a man-made funeral pyre.

Through the nights, the pajama patrol watched from curbside seats as garish flames licked greedily up the northeastern mountain rim. Daytimes, weird sepia sunlight filtered down through the canopy of smoke to our sifting shroud of grey ashes.

In all, a terrifying example of children "playing" with matches — and a brain-searing lesson to potential young fire-bugs.

SEARCH AND RESCUE members, Miner Harkness and Earl LaLone were called to read topographical maps and direct out-of-town fire rigs at Base Camp in Monrovia Canyon. By seven p.m. with the fire in the residential area still uncontrolled, Harkness moved Mac and Sylvia MacRoberts (former Sierra Madreans) and belongings from their Bradbury Estate home.

PILFERED PENNANTS Troubles Tenants. Who swiped the "house for sale" flags waving enticingly in front of Giff and Jane Eastwood's? Since Giff's appointment as business manager for Pacific Ocean Park and Aragon, Inc., the well-known family is forced to sell their home and make future headquarters in the Santa Monica area.

A BROKEN waterline burred and gushed into Ed and Bobbie Rambeau's basement at 3 o'clock the other morning — making a watery racket until Eddie turned off the main valve. It's believed that air seeped into the rusty pipes (causing the break) during street repairs in front of the Rambeau's Montecito home.

Next day, the Water Department mended the leak and the Rambeau's siphoned off their cellar lagoon with a garden hose.

TATE TOPPLES. Royal Drug Store will be minus and missing Paul Tate for quite awhile. Sunday, Paul fell from a ladder (while hammering redwood lattice over a patio), landed on the asphalt pavement and fractured his upper and lower jaw in five places, broke his chin and lacerated the inside of his mouth.

Monday, he underwent four hours of surgery at Alta Vista Hospital, where doctors wired each tooth back in place and laced wires (one-sixteenth of an inch apart)

Does Nixon Shift With Political Wind?

By Robert G. Spivack

"TRICKLE DOWN" DICK — A great debate has raged around the personality of Vice President Richard Nixon for the last two years. The point at issue: Does he have real convictions on any subject?

This has undoubtedly been a painful matter for the Vice President, as it would be for anyone, yet the more his publicity men talk of the "new Nixon" the more often the subject comes up. Unfortunately for him, his is the sort of personality that evokes questions of this sort.

The Vice President has been working hard to dispel the notion that he is merely a political opportunist who shifts with each political wind. While there are dozens of issues on which Nixon's stand remains a mystery he has slowly and in a characteristically calculated manner begun to take a position on one basic issue, the question of tax cuts.

NIXON SPOKE before the Harvard Business School Assn. in Boston a few weeks ago. He delivered what his associates billed as a "thoughtful effort to analyze" the American economy. In this address he offered three suggestions on what the government should do to overcome the effects of the recession through which we are still passing.

Nixon proposed:

1. That the unemployment compensation system be brought up-to-date to cushion the effects of joblessness on the worker.
2. That business and labor both combat inflation by management seeking "volume sales with low profits" and by union "self-discipline" at the bargaining table.

3. That Congress should vote tax "reforms."

It was on this latter point that Nixon was most specific. He favored a cut in the present corporate tax rate, an additional cut in the highest personal tax brackets, a national 1½ per cent sales tax, and "more liberal treatment of depreciation for business taxation purposes."

Nixon's remarks did not attract much attention in the daily newspapers at the time, but they have since been examined carefully by economists, businessmen and labor leaders.

The Nixon tax "reforms" are designed to stimulate capital investment, or as he put it: "The best way for the American people to improve their living standards is through policies that promote maximum business growth."

THE QUESTION OF TAX RELIEF — When the 86th Congress convenes next January it is almost certain to devote a good part of its efforts to a study of taxes: whose should be cut and whose should be increased. Some experts, for example, estimate that Big Oil saves upwards of $400,000,000 per year with its 27½ per cent "depletion allowance." Nixon made no reference to it.

On the other hand, the imposition of the Nixon-proposed sales tax would, as labor economists have pointed out, cut 1½ cents off the workers' dollar, with a national sales tax. The Committee on Political Education (COPE) says workers would wind up with a 98½ cent dollar. When you add to this what inflation has robbed in the last 10 years, the U.S. dollar will be worth about 45¢.

But the major objection to Nixon's proposal to cut taxes for the rich is that it fails to deal squarely with the question of continuing unemployment. What Nixon did in his speech was generalize. He forecast that if businessmen spend money in new investments the job slack would be taken up. Prosperity, in short, would trickle down.

A CONTINUING RECESSION? What Nixon failed to take into account is that there are certain new factors in the economy which threaten to leave us with a continuing pool of unemployed, somewhere in excess of 4,000,000. The new factors are: automation, improved machines and greater management efficiency.

The fact is that big business, despite the recession, is now reaping in the profits. How does this happen? It was done by taking advantage of the slack in the economy to set management's house in order. Almost every big business corporation, according to reports coming here, has been able to reduce costs, improve equipment and cut waste.

Despite the business upturn there are still $4,700,000 people out of work. There are 1,500,000 fewer factory workers than a year ago. In his next "thoughtful" speech maybe Nixon ought to let us know what he has in mind for the permanent unemployed.

Your Congressman . . .

'Off Season' Busy Time for Legislators

By Edgar W. Hiestand
Rep. 21st District

CONGRESS-OFF SEASON: What does a Congressman do when Congress is not in session. I've often been asked that question. In the first place, he's actually busier than during the regular session, and working under certain handicaps that are not present on Capitol Hill.

He usually returns to his District just as soon as possible after adjournment in order to "see the people" face to face, learn of their problems, their opinions on national and international affairs, and so forth.

He has the same responsibility for national affairs as when Congress is in session, and must keep abreast of current events and continue to play his part of leadership, in developments that affect our national destiny.

FOR EXAMPLE, in recent international situations, you have no doubt noticed the news stories reporting speeches and statements of many congressmen and senators. It has been quite a debate, and apparently is now resolved in favor of the Administration's foreign policy. Had this come up during the regular session, this debate would have been carried on in Capitol Hill, in the throughout his mouth. It will be six to eight weeks before Paul can talk (except to mumble) or eat (except through a straw). His wife, Ruth, says although it will be a long time before he's able to work, the patient should be home within a few days — and eager for bedside visitors.

FAKE FEARSOME. A fetching, Charles Addams-ish display in H. Clay Reavis' window features a monstrous black spider (make-believe) clinging to a dainty pink bouquet.

LESTER ANTHONY, the "Mighty Hunter" made light of in this column recently — because he came home from a deer hunting trip with a deer head (and four horns) and one garter snake (or was it four garter snakes and one honey toad?) — redeemed his reputation by nipping a 200-pound buck at Big Bear, of all places.

WHAT'S THIS about Scarlet Fever plaguing some of Sierra Madre's kiddie-car set? Out damned spots!

Congressional chambers.

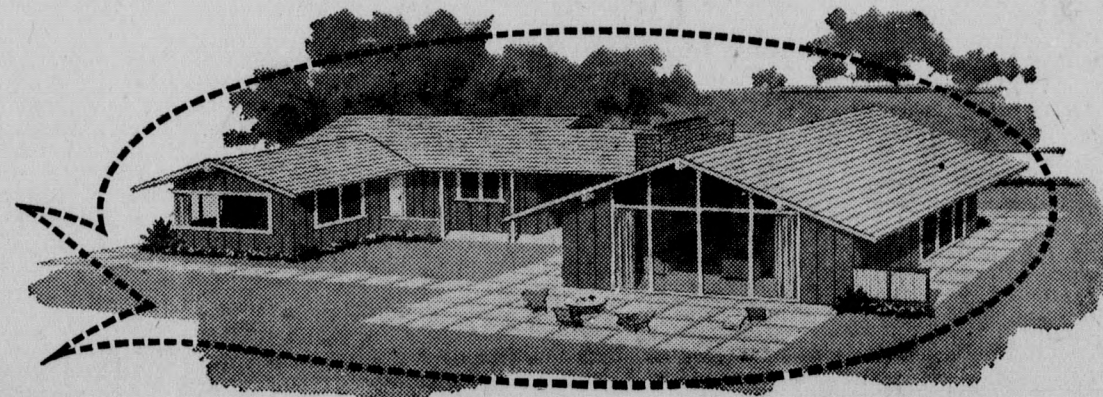

All of this activity takes place during a time when the Congressman does not have to direct assistance of his trained staff, which is still in Washington, carrying on the routine work of his office, handling inquiries and correspondence.

In addition to this handicap, the congressman is likewise deprived of the wealth of research material available at his Washington office. There we have our own files, built up over the years, which are invaluable in answering inquiries and helping to solve administrative problems. In addition, we have the assistance of the Library of Congress and its research staff.

WHEN I'M in the District, I have many, many callers, in person and on the telephone. One man may have a problem requiring only oral advice. The next caller may present problems which lead into prolonged conferences, appointments with officers of various Federal agencies, and volumes of correspondence.

To sum up, the "off-season" is, as often as not, the busy season for your congressman.

News of the Churches

Panmunjom Delegate Is Bethany Speaker Sunday

Lt. Gen. William Harrison of the U.S. Army will be the special speaker for the evening service of Bethany church this Sunday at 7 o'clock. The general retired from 40 years of service in 1957.

He became internationally known as the chief UN delegate to the Military Armistice Conference at Panmunjom following the Korean War, and he signed the armistice document for the United States.

Gen. Harrison is now the executive director of the Evangelical Welfare Agency in Chicago, and will appear at several regional banquet meetings for the newly-formed Evangelical Welfare Agency of Los Angeles.

Jewish Center Plans Bazaar, Auction Oct. 18

An auction and bazaar, under the auspices of the Foothill Jewish Community Center of Temple Beth Israel, will be held Saturday evening, Oct. 18, and Sunday morning on the newly acquired site at Foothill Blvd. and Second Ave., in Arcadia.

New merchandise, consisting of bedroom sets, living room furniture, kitchen furniture and accessories and many more items will be sold to the highest bidder.

There will also be many more items, all new, which will be sold at prices below wholesale cost. In addition there will be games and rides for the amusement of the children and food and drink for everyone.

New Young Men's Group Meets at Church Tonight

A new group for those who have graduated from high school, are employed, attending school, or in the armed services, will be organized at the Congregational Church tonight.

Tentatively known as "The Young Churchmen," the group will explore ideas in the realm of the philosophy of religion, will undertake service projects for the local church and the wider parish, and will provide an opportunity for fellowship for young adults in the community.

Opening meeting will be at the home of Bradley Quick, 80 S. Baldwin, at 7:30 p.m. tonight.

Any one desiring windows, walls, or cars washed, lawns mowed, leaves raked, floors polished, or any other chore, may reserve a teenager, by calling Miss Sandy Davis, ELgin 5-2200, or the church office, ELgin 5-9992.

Faith Lutheran Youth Group To Get Charter

During the zone rally, to be held Sunday afternoon and evening at Zion Lutheran Church in South San Gabriel, the Walther League of Faith Lutheran Church, 835 Hastings Ranch Drive, will be presented with its membership charter.

Accepting the presentation from Robert Lichtsinn, district president, will be Kenneth Kirmse, president of the local youth group.

The Walther League is the official youth organization of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod. Its goal is "to help young people through Christian knowledge and growth to be of service to their church and home."

Approximately 20 young people of Faith Church expect to attend the Sunday afternoon zone meeting.

Among them will be Kenneth Kirmse, president; Julie Hesse, vice-president; Sandra Bock, secretary; Valerie Meiners, treasurer; John Ottosen, membership chairman; and Laurie Schultz, Christian Growth chairman.

AREA III. The Foothill area of the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Churches, embracing churches from Chatsworth to Arcadia, will meet at the Sierra Madre Congregational Church, Friday, Oct. 10, for a Women's Fellowship Workshop.

Training in social action, Christian education, stewardship, worship and missionary outreach will be provided, according to Mrs. Christine Burton, of Los Angeles, President of the Los Angeles Association of Congregational Women.

The Workshop will be open from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Attendees are asked to bring sack lunches, with the host church providing coffee and tea.

THE YOUNG people of the Pilgrim Fellowship of the Congregational Church are offering their services to do any kind of chores around house and yard, as part of their annual "Work Day for Christ."

Proceeds of their labors will go for special mission projects, including a library for the high school in Tar-

The scientific basis of lasting peace will be the topic of a free lecture on Christian Science to be given in Pasadena by Lona Koch-Meisen of Boston, Mass., on Thursday, Oct. 16, at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Koch-Meisen, a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, will speak in the church edifice, 2803 E. Colorado, under the auspices of Third Church of Christ, Scientist. Her subject will be "Christian Science: The Answer to the World's Prayer for Peace."

Methodists Hold Annual Fall Festival

The Sierra Madre Methodist Church held its annual Fall Festival, sponsored by the Woman's Society for Christian Service, last Friday in the Parish House, and featured a smorgasbord dinner for the members and guests. Children had their own dinner thanks to the Methodist Men that managed the braziers.

Proceeds from the event will be applied to the yearly budget of the Woman's Society.

Church Fair, Dinner Set October 11

A church fair will be held Saturday, Oct. 11, at the Santa Anita Church of Religious Science, 778 S. Rosemead Blvd., from 3 to 8 p.m.

Dinner will be served cafeteria style in the patio from 5 to 8 p.m. Decorated booths will offer prize winning games, including fish pond, dart throw at balloon; "White elephants" of every description; art display including on-the-spot portrait sketches; home made candy; lemonade; root beer barrel; and fortune telling. Music and dancing will be provided.

The fair is sponsored by the Men's group of the Church. According to Alan Ruwet, chairman, all proceeds will go to the expansion fund.

On Sunday, Oct. 12, Dr. Ethel Barnhart will speak on "The Creativity of Mind" at both the 9:15 and the 11 o'clock services at the church.

A RUMMAGE sale will be held Oct. 16, and 17 from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. at the Santa Anita Church.

This sale is sponsored by the Women's Guild and all proceeds will go toward the building fund.

LESSON-SERMON

That God, divine Love and infinite good, could not be the cause, source or creator of sin, disease, and death, equally and consistently—these are essential points discussed in the Lesson-Sermon "Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" read in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

Anoakia Plans Annual Parent-Faculty Dinner

Anoakia School for Girls will hold its first annual Parent-Faculty dinner at 7 p.m. Monday at the Annandale Country Club in Pasadena. A reception will precede dinner in the main dining room.

Mrs. Carrol Wendel, hospitality chairman of the Mothers Club of Anoakia, is supervising the arrangements. Her committee is Mrs. Lowry McCaslin, decorations; Mrs. Burt C. Monson, place cards; Mrs. Ralph James, name tags.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. William DeGroot, the vice president, Mrs. William Beesmyer, will welcome guests and introduce the officers:

Mrs. Robert J. Merritt Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Robert B. King, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Thomas L. Moore, treasurer; Mrs.

Ralph Hames and Mrs. Carrol Wendel, hospitality chairman; Mrs. James H. Flanagan, transportation; Mrs. Lowry McCaslin, social service; Mrs. Robert Henger, publicity; Mrs. Clem Glass, American Field Service, and Mrs. Glass and Mrs. William DeMartini, nominating committee.

Mrs. Beesmyer will then introduce the class mothers—Mrs. James H. Neece, Mrs. Thomas H. Wells, Mrs. William Simpson, Mrs. Ralph H. Pejsa, Mrs. Harry G. Fairman, Mrs. Mell M. Barton, Mrs. Eugene Bolay and Mrs. Edward Lammers.

Master of ceremonies will be Clem Glass, president of the Fathers' Club, who will present Mrs. Marjorie Winfield, headmistress, and Miss Margaret Hill, dean of academic studies.

E. A. Newton Home After Fall

He was taken to Methodist Hospital of Southern California, Arcadia, after the accident.

Lowell Enoch To Play at Organ Meeting

Lowell Enoch, organist-choirmaster at All Saints' Episcopal Church, Pasadena, will play at 8:15 p.m. Monday at the first fall meeting of the Pasadena and Valley Districts chapter of the American Guild of Organists at All Saints Church. The public is invited.

Preceding the recital program a dinner will be held in the parish house for guild members and guests, when Dean Robert Prichard will preside over a brief business session.

Alvin Embree to Star On TV Adventure Show

Alvin Embree, 214 W. Carter, will appear in person on the television program, "I Search for Adventure," at 7 p.m. Oct. 16, with his color film, "Orchid Jungle," made in Ecuador.

"Orchid Jungle" shows the collecting, packing of orchids and biology specimens, passing through customs and fumigation at the border, as well as the greenhouse where the orchids have been planted at the Embree home here.

Also to be presented on the show will be Kinky, a kinkajou brought home from the jungle. Even rare in that area, little Kinky is a real novelty here and is the Embree children's proudest possession.

The trip was made last spring by Mr. Embree, Calaway Dodson, a student at the Rancho Santa Ana Botanical Gardens at Claremont, and Grady P. Frymire, Stanford student.

Mr. Dodson was working on his thesis on cytology. Mr. Frymire was collecting biology specimens and Mr. Embree took pictures.

Ceylon Dancers Billed at UCLA

Exciting fire dances, barbaric devil dances, boisterous mask dances as well as state rituals and ceremonies comprise the graphic program that the celebrated Ceylon National Dancers will present in five performances, beginning Friday night, Oct. 17, for three evenings at 8:30 and two matinees at 2:30 in Royce Hall, U.C.L.A.

We give all our people a $30,000 "tool kit"

Each of the men and women of California Water & Telephone Company who serve you is backed by an investment of more than $30,000. That's how much it takes in plant, tools, equipment and supplies per employee, to bring you modern telephone service.

Measured by other industries, this is an expensive "tool kit." It includes thousands of items from trucks to typewriters... switchboards to safety belts.

Over the years the cost of replacement items for this "tool kit" goes higher and higher as the prices for all the things we buy increase. As a purchaser, you are well aware of the greater costs of daily necessities. But your telephone service has not been repaid since 1952. Yet the value of your telephone has increased tenfold in this six-year period.

It's no easy job to keep ahead of rising costs while expanding and improving our facilities, but we will continue to supply our employees with the best available tools and equipment to give you the best service possible.

Adventurer, Author Visits News' Writer

Edward Voorhees, 58 W. Mira Monte, had as a visitor recently his friend Hjalmar Rutzebeck of Sunland, Danish-born, and successively sailor on "windjammers," soldier, Alaskan hunter and trapper, California farmer, social worker, economist, author of four autobiographical novels and two expository books concerning those phases of his life.

The two spent several hours reading aloud and discussing the beginning 100 pages of Rutzebeck's current work-in-progress, based on his experiences with the economic, marketing, personal and political problems of ranching during the turbulent prohibition days in the red cinder fruit country just south of Mt. Lassen in California. It seems that "juvenile delinquency" existed then, too. His previous novels deal with his earlier life, from the time he ran away from his physically comfortable home in Denmark, as a precocious big boy of 11, and went to sea on a "windjammer," to be washed overboard close to land near Cape Horn and picked up after two weeks by another sailing vessel bound up the west coast of the Americas.

His rough, tough and exciting life in youth is told with vivid and frank directness in "Mad Sea" and "Sailor With a Gun." His later life, less violent but no less colorful, is reflected in "Alaska Man's Luck," "My Alaskan Idyll," and "Hell's Paradise." Author Rutzebeck, now four times a grandfather, lives on his small fruit ranch which he has named "Viking's Land in Shadow Hills," where he and his young wife, both of whom are also expert business accountants, raise much of their own food, and where he continues to experiment with raising vegetables in chemicalized water, about which he has the intention, in proper time, of writing a book.

STAMP CLUBS

For the 14th consecutive year the Stamp Exhibition of Southern California will be produced by the Federated Philatelic Clubs of Southern California. The event will be held Nov. 14-16 at the Elks Club, 607 S. Park View St., Los Angeles.

Jose Drudis, Local Artist, Has Exhibit at Ambassador

The Dalzell Hatfield art galleries in Hotel Ambassador, Los Angeles, gave an invitation preview Saturday afternoon and evening, announced as "Retrospective Exhibition of Paintings on Spain and California, 1918-1958," by Jose Drudis, Los Angeles and Sierra Madre painter and art patron.

The selection of about 20 oils represents some 40 years' spread of work, mainly landscape, begun in his native Spain in the artist's youth and continued in the United States, where Drudis became a U.S. citizen in 1933.

MEANWHILE, he had one man exhibitions in many cities, including Madrid, Bilbao, Barcelona, Paris, New York, Middlebury College, Vermont, Havana, Boston, Chicago, Pittsburgh, Whittier Art Association (California), Los Angeles County Museum, and others.

In 1949, he exhibited at the Arts Guild of Sierra Madre, of which he is a member. Many collections contain specimens of his work, ranging from that of King Alfonso XIII and Queen Victoria Eugenia of Spain to the Pasadena Art Museum, and Los Angeles County Museum.

The Los Angeles Times comments: "Throughout Drudis's work, his warm response to beauty in nature is disciplined drawing and impressionistic color . . . the

Nursing Homes Plan Open House

Open house will be held at three area guest homes this Sunday, from 1 to 5 p.m., in line with Gov. Knight's proclamation regarding Nursing Home Day.

Open house, with refreshments, will be at the Sierra Madre Convalescent Hospital, 94 N. Baldwin; Marinda Guest Home, 518 W. Foothill Blvd., Monrovia, and Sherwood Guest Home, 227 N. Myrtle, Monrovia.

In his proclamation, Gov. Knight said: "The progress made by the more than 3,000 nursing homes, sanitariums, rest homes and homes for the aged in California is reflected in longer life and better health for our senior citizens and those needing extensive care."

"Organizations which have dedicated their energies to maintaining such institutions merit the widest possible recognition and support for their service to humanity."

The exhibit will continue, daily except Sundays, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m., to Oct. 17, inclusive. Admittance is free. (E.L.V.)

Get a free ride on the AD-RIME bandwagon. Your line need not be dignified, but must rhyme with "GUIDE", concerning home trade, like: "All these firms are true and tried."

Though you stride far and wide for merchants better qualified—offerings more diversified, none will serve you with such pride—as merchant friends who here abide; Their interests are with yours allied,—with stores which no one can deride. ## "Visit to Small Planet" Opening Night Hit

By Edward Voorhees

With a winkin', blinkin' Flying Saucer grounded and captive in the front patio, and Gilmore Brown, veteran president and producing director, and erect and smiling host in the foyer greeting his many friends, the Pasadena Playhouse got off to a literally flying start on its 42nd year, Thursday evening, with Gore Vidal's "Visit to a Small Planet."

Reginald Gardiner, fresh from the same role at La Jolla's summer theatre, plays the part of Kreton, whose amused and joyous nonchalance in ideas and conduct in using his startling powers comes near to wrecking this small planet of ours before our own earthly "brinkmanship" can get around to it.

THE "UNIDENTIFIED flying object" (not the one in the patio!) is spotted in Virginia, high above the country house of Roger Spelding, news analyst, who broadcasts on TV from his living room—which is the stage set.

Minutes later, with weird and terrifying electronic sounds, the "u.f.o." descends and lands, just out of audience view, in the Spelding rose garden, in full view of the family of three, including teen-age daughter Ellen, and their two guests, Conrad the boy friend of Ellen, and Gen. Tom Powers of the Pentagon, brilliantly played by Hal Thompson.

In walks Kreton, sole passenger of the strange vehicle, which is "automatic." He is smiling, debonair, and dressed in a Southern U.S.A., gentleman's elegant costume of 1861. Cautiously questioned, he replies that he had planned his arrival to coincide with the Civil War, but evidently had erred by a slip in calculating distance versus time; that he comes from another "dimension" rather than from another planet; reads any person's thoughts (also, later, those of Rosemary the cat) and can make them audible at will—which he demonstrates; and by a wave of his hand can put around himself a protective electronic barrier—which he also demonstrated, when General Powers tried to nab him as a spy.

THE SATIRE of the play is pin-pointed by the amused, sophisticated comments of Kreton (with the inimitable nuances of Gardiner's manner) of the schemes of General Powers for promotion over his rival at the Pentagon, and his hope to be given the concession for the vast laundry business he had so enjoyed—and profited by—during the previous war.

Kreton also observes with tolerant curiosity and amusement crude sensuality of Conrad in rut (no other word is adequate!) with 'teen-age Ellen, whose only restraint is her fear of discovery of their visits to motels.

Yet, by a curious twist of poetic justice, it is Ellen who finally thwarts Kreton's greatest "joke," which would have finished off this small planet. Incidentally, he finds that Earth's most enthusiastic and cementing activity is war.

"WAR," he concluded, "is the principal art form of your race."

Yet, as the end of his mischievous sojourn here approaches, he regrets to leave "this violent loving imperfect planet," to return to the boring perfection of his native "dimension," where any surprise is impossible. The first night audience which filled the well cooled theatre on the season's hottest evening, liked the play, vociferously.

CALTECH COSTS UP

Annual tuition charges for undergraduate and graduate students at the California Institute of Technology will be increased from $900 to $1,275 now, (September, 1958), it beginning one year from was announced by President L. A. DuBridge. The increase was voted by the Board of Trustees, he said, in order to meet steadily rising costs.

Who Says Flying Saucers Aren't Real?

A series of talks concerned with outer space ships in our skies, is being conducted by the Pasadena Unit of Understanding.

These meetings are held in the Odd Fellows Hall, Walnut and Los Robles, at 8 p. m., and are open to the public on a donation basis.

The last program, Sept. 25, featured Carl Anderson of Fullerton, who spoke with enthusiasm concerning his several witnessed experiences with outer space craft (flying saucers), and told of an instantaneous healing of a severe burn.

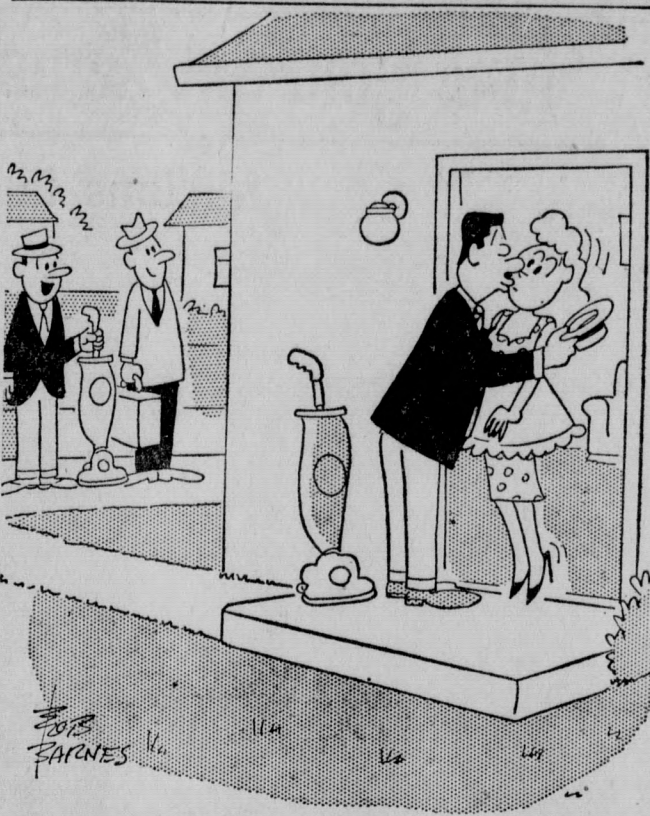

Mr. Anderson, an electrician, talked about the true meaning of their presence here, as discussed with one of the men from the ships.

Four other meetings are scheduled for this year. Major Wayne Aho of "Saucer Intelligence" Washington, D. C.; Dr. George Hunt of Williamson, archeologist, who first contacted the Saucers by radio; Dr. Wentworth of Great Western University; and Howard Menger of New Jersey, who will close-up motion pictures of the ships and their people.

Padua Hills Opens 27th Season Oct. 8

Padua Hills Theatre opens its 27th consecutive season Wednesday, Oct. 8, when The Mexican Players return from their annual vacation to present "Festival Mexicano."

The production will feature four rare glimpses of colorful Mexico with emphasis upon the songs and dances of the given regions.

"Festival Mexicano" will open with "A Fair in Jalisco." This area is known for its vital and proud people who are blessed with personal beauty and grace. Their music is vibrant and stimulating.

Vignettes from Yucatan with its thanksgiving for the harvest, Tehuantepec with a wedding ceremony where nuptial ceremonies are elaborate, and Oaxaca with its procession for the Virgin of Soledad, are the other regions that will serve as settings for the production.

Casilda Amador and Eligio Herrera head the sparkling cast of dancers and singers who will include Maria Abundiz, Armida Maldonado, Graciela Morales, Alicia Narvaez, Luis Abundiz, Manuel Vera, and Guadalupe Rubio.

Ausencio Gutierrez will provide comic relief, while Manuel Gonzales will head the singing cast.

Opening of "Festival Mexicano" also restores the delightful custom of Merienda 2:30.

following each performance of the play, which will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday with matinees each Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30.

Don't Pick Own Mushrooms; It Could Be Fatal

By Roy O. Gilbert, M.D., L.A. County Health Officer

People who eat mushrooms they gather hither and yon are taking a tremendous risk, because only experts engaged in the business of raising or studying them can tell the difference between the edible and nonedible or poisonous varieties.

There are, of course, many people who think they are expert in distinguishing one from the other. One such person gathered and ate a couple of mushrooms recently in order to demonstrate to his companions how easy they were to identify. Fortunately the variety was not lethal, although he became very ill for a brief period.

Not all fungi picked by the average person turn out to be toadstools, but the risk is so great that it appears incomprehensible that anyone would ever take the risk of eating a mushroom that wasn't either commercially grown or canned.

PERHAPS NO other commercially prepared food in the United States is grown and cared for with such strict supervision. The soil and fertilizer used for mushroom beds must be sterilized, and this is done in order to destroy, among other things, all spores of wild fungi, including the toadstool, that may be present in the soil.

Mushroom culture is carried on in buildings that are air-conditioned so that cross strains carried by the wind cannot reach the beds. Needless to say, all mushroom seeds used are certified to be pure strains.

As a result of the care in raising, and also in the processing of these edible fungi, no known cases of mushroom poisoning have resulted from the eating of mushrooms canned in this country, where mushroom culture has been a thriving business since the latter part of the 19th Century.

CERTAINLY, cultivated mushrooms have a place in the diet for they possess a definite food value, comparing favorably with most vegetables in protein content; they are also good sources of vitamins and minerals, and have a distinctive flavor that is pleasing to most people.

Europeans have a great liking for mushrooms and are said to gather them at every opportunity. The rate of poisoning from the non-edible varieties is understandably higher than it is in America.

Nearly all cases of poisoning by mushrooms in this country are said to be due to ingestion of the Amanita genus of mushrooms. In general, two different types of poisoning are caused by this genus. One type is not very serious; the other is often fatal.

A. muscaria poisoning causes symptoms of illness, including abdominal cramps, diarrhea, and profuse perspiration within 1 to 2 hours. The disturbance is usually quickly associated with the nonedible mushroom and prompt administration of the proper medication, accompanied by gastric lavage, has the person back to normal within a couple of days.

THE SECOND type of poisoning may be caused by three different types of fungi although only two (A. brunneus and A. verna) are commonly found in this country. All are similar in appearance and cause the same type of delayed poisoning.

Symptoms of illness usually appear 6 to 15 hours after the eating of the toadstools. These varieties are very poisonous, and because of the lapse of time between ingestion and symptoms the body has time to absorb the toxic material. About 90 per cent of fatal cases of mushroom poisoning are due to these types. Unlike A. muscaria poisoning, there is no specific remedy for it.

Generally speaking, people are sufficiently well informed to know that the eating of mushrooms gathered at random is a dangerous business. It is most often the so-called expert who gets poisoned. One such individual, whose faith in his ability to differentiate between edible and nonedible fungi apparently remains unshaken, has been admitted to a local hospital on three different occasions with A. mas-

La Salle High Chooses Officers For School Year

Nine students were elected to the student administrative and representative posts of La Salle High School, Pasadena.

Pat Sweeney, 1100 Madre Vista Rd., Pasadena, was chosen president. Vice-president will be Jim Dirmann, 867 Adelaide Dr., Pasadena, and the secretary-treasurer's post is Doug Sterling, 2354 Paloma.

Chosen as Junior Class representatives were Bill Burke, of Sierra Madre, and Dennis Burke, of San Marino. Representing the Sophomore class will be Bill Friedrich, of Pasadena, and Armando Perez, of Los Angeles. The Freshman class will be represented by Louis Rios, Pasadena, and Tom Young, San Marino.

Co-editors of the La Salle newspaper, "The Lance," are Paul Coony, Alhambra, and Bill Burke.

The pep council has chosen Doug Balluff as chairman.

caria poisoning, the last time just a few weeks ago.

The only safe thing to do is to leave mushroom gathering to those people in the business of raising them commercially and to mycologists who have made the study of fungi their profession. The fallibility of the average so-called expert may result in a fatal mistake.

Take your problems to Church this week —

Millions Leave Them There!

Are You Happy Jack or Gloomy Jim?

Jack: "Mr. Postman, I know you have something special for me, something I'm expecting."

Jim: "He won't have anything for me, at least not the letter I'm anxious to receive."

Jack: "But Jim! That's not the kind of outlook to have. It can have an unwholesome influence upon your entire life. As a rule we get what we expect from life. Expect the worst and quite often you place yourself in an attitude and relation for the worst to happen."

Jack is right! Many are discovering the truth of what he says and are changing their outlook by changing their thinking. The change-over is not accomplished in a day, but it can be done and one marvelous source of help is attendance at church. The church not only assists a person to depart from evil to good but will also help change his thinking from negative to positive, from error to truth. It really works wonders.

With the hope that it will, in some measure, foster and help sustain that which is good in family and community life, this feature is sponsored by the business firms and organizations whose names appear in this space.

WATER COSTS

received any water at all, we would incur an increased tax rate of approximately 41 cents. Any water purchased would cost $25 per acre foot and would probably need to come from an increase in water rates. Our present production cost which covers pumping the water out of the ground and into the first reservoir is $8.19 per acre foot, which is less than one-third of the cost of Metropolitan Water District water delivered to the same place.

BEFORE SUMMARIZING it is necessary to explain briefly a Municipal Water District.

A Municipal Water District is formed by these steps:

1. One hundred persons within an area decide that the area should form a municipal water district, they draw the boundaries of the district, including whatever area they decide on, and then file a declaration of intention with the Board of Supervisors for the formation of a district.

2. These 100 people then have 90 days to obtain the signatures of registered voters living in the district on a petition calling for an election. They need to obtain signatures within each city equal to only 10 per cent of the number of persons who voted for governor in the last election. It is estimated this would be less than 300 persons for Sierra Madre.

3. The Board of Supervisors then divides the proposed district into five areas and calls an election for both the formation of the district and the election of a director from each of the five areas. The election date shall be set for not less than 90 nor more than 120 days from date of approval of the petition by the Board of Supervisors.

4. The election is decided on a majority vote of the whole district. Any city may vote against the formation but be overruled if the majority of the entire district votes favorably.

5. After formation the directors of the Municipal Water District have certain powers amongst which is the initiation of action to join the Metropolitan Water District. The final action is taken by a vote of the electorate, but again is determined by the majority of the entire district and not in any city.

TO REVIEW:

1. Most of the Los Angeles County area is a part of the Metropolitan Water District. The district has water, sells it at cost, and while this cost is high, if water is needed, the cost must be met.

2. The Upper San Gabriel Valley is not now a member but is in the process of forming a municipal water district which is the first step to joining the Metropolitan Water District.

3. Certain cities in the Valley (Alhambra, Azusa, Monterey Park and Sierra Madre) do not feel they need Metropolitan Water District water at this time, and therefore are exploring methods of staying out of the proposed Municipal Water District. At the same time, these cities do not want to hinder the other cities or areas, which obviously need water immediately, in their efforts to join the Metropolitan Water District. If included in the larger district the only method of staying out of Metropolitan Water District would be to defeat the matter at the election and this would hinder the cities in need.

4. Sierra Madre is not rejecting the idea that in the future they may need Metropolitan Water District water, but feels it should make its own decision as to time.

5. Sierra Madre, after studying the problem, does not feel it can stay out of all Municipal Water Districts, because of the ease of including Sierra Madre even against its desire.

6. Sierra Madre feels it is better to join a small Municipal Water District where it would have a greater measure of home rule than to join the large district.

VILLA
VIEWSBy Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

The devastation of the fires in the area last week serves to remind us of the constant danger present during these months of the year. Valuable property was needlessly laid bare in the wake of the uncontrollable blaze, plus injuries to the firefighters who worked unceasingly against the devouring flames that whipped about like capricious demons igniting six new fires for each one extinguished.

The tragedy does not stop when the fire is out and the homes rebuilt. What amount of insurance will cover the loss of a treasured picture, baby's first shoes, years of living, stored in one home? What money will cover the anguish of seeing your home going up in smoke, and what kind of thanks can we give the firemen and their waiting families that will make them know that we appreciate all they have given.

What burned bush will hold back the torrents of water that will follow in the spring? Why did it have to happen? Who was careless this time? Don't let it happen because of you next time.

ON A LIGHTER vein, Mrs. Jack Paschall Jr. was the honoree at a surprise stork shower last Thursday evening. She is expecting her sixth child sometime this month. The hostesses were Mrs. Robert Mueller, at whose home the party was held, Mrs. George Holmes and Mrs. Charles Golds. The guest list included Mrs. Ira Lacey, Mrs. Joseph Phelps, Mrs. Pete Mazzei, Mrs. M. D. Remy, Mrs. Jack Paschall Sr., Mrs. James Spear, Mrs. James Nicholson, Mrs. Mattie Meridith and Mrs. G. M. McRoberts.

NEW RESIDENTS up our way are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Craib Jr., who bought the DeWinter home at 1455 Old House Road. Although the Craibs are natives of California they have been living in Salem, Ore., for the last 24 years. Mr. Craib is with Allstate Insurance. They have three children, John, 10, Donald III, 3, and their 10-month-old daughter, Laura. Both Mr. and Mrs. Craib have their families in the area and have been living a busy life reacquainting themselves with old friends.

ALSO NEW to our hill are Dr. and Mrs. Arthur Laufer who bought the McAlpine house at 1260 Sierra Madre Blvd. The Armbusters, who have occupied the house for the past year, have recently moved out of our area.

Dr. Laufer is a physicist with the Office of Naval Research. They moved here from upper Hastings Ranch where they have owned a home for the past four years. They have three children, Russell, 8; Christopher, 6, and John, who is just 4.

MRS. FREDERICK Potruch of 3302 Voshburg took off last Saturday for a two-week visit in Chicago and Kansas City. She intends to spend her time visiting with family and friends. She said that since Mr. Potruch is out speaking every night campaigning for the Right-to-Work law, she felt it was an auspicious time for her trip.

MRS. BURTON DAKE of Villa Heights was a hostess last week to 22 members of the East Pasadena Bethel of Jobs Daughters. The business of the evening dealt with the final plans for their ham dinner that will be given on Oct. 18 at the San Marino Masonic Temple from 5 to 8 p.m. The public is invited and the tickets will sell for $1 for adults and 50 cents for children. For reservations call Mrs. Dake at SYcamore 7-3332.

IN THE ICE CREAM set, Krista Griswold had Jeanne Mounter, Sandy Begin and Seri Rudolph in last week to help celebrate her third birthday.

Rangers Report
Camp Attendance

Three Woodcraft Ranger camps were attended by 2,115 boys and girls for a total of 22,505 "camper-days" during the past summer, according to Harold L. MacTaggart, camp committee chairman for the youth organization.

The ranger camps were attended by youngsters ages 8 to 15 from throughout the Southern California area with non-members as well as members of the Community Chest youth organization attending.

The 1958 summer season was the 36th consecutive year of summer camp operation by the rangers. Camps include Lake Arrowhead, Stanley Ranch and Camp Ah-Hi. The camp program is under the direction of James C. Flanders, executive director of the organization and a past president of the local chapter of the American Camping Association.

11th Birthday
For Ellen Whited

Dinner and an evening of miniature golf served to celebrate the 11th birthday anniversary of Ellen Whited, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Rolland Whited, 1070 Medford, last Saturday.

Invited guests were Gail Templar, Sally Leonard, Lynn Miller, Carol Langstaff, Janice Rowley, Diane Siegle, Susan Roberts and Virginia Ruddock.

Outstanding fall fashions from leading California designers will be featured at the fashion luncheon for the benefit of the Women's Guild of Trinity Presbyterian Church scheduled at noon Oct. 14, in the New Max Morrison Hall of Westminster Presbyterian Church.

"Overtures to Fashion" is the title of the showing, to be presented by Rene Coveley, well known fashion coordinator, Miss Gwen Wakeling, noted motion picture costume designer, presently designing for the TV Shirley Temple "Story Book," will be a special guest.

Among the many door prizes arranged for by Mrs. Franklin Howell and Mrs. Rolland Whited will be a week end at the new Uplander Hotel in Upland. This new hotel was built by the owners of the Westerner and will open early in November.

Mrs. William Pursley and John Morris are chairman of the event; Mrs. William Smylie and Mrs. Charles Haver, programs; Mrs. William Holl, table decorations; Mrs. Joseph Cummins, stage decorations; Mrs. Jan Hjorth and Mrs. Thomas McClintock, luncheon arrangements; Mrs. Albert Bergh art and posters, and Mrs. Merle Miller and Mrs. Dan Taylor tickets, and Mrs. Clifford Sweet and Mrs. Gordon Templar.

Riffenburghs
To Host Dance
Club Saturday

Hastings Ranch Dance Club will have a costume party Saturday night at the Altadena home of Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Riffenburgh, the festivities to begin with cocktails at 7 p.m. followed by dinner and then dancing.

Co-hostesses with the Riffenburghs will be Mr. and Mrs. Roland Whited, Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Curry and Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Bush.

Sigma Kappa
Has Swim Party

A swimming party at the San Marino home of Mrs. Walter Hugo, 1630 Davenport Rd., yesterday found members of Sigma Kappa alumnae of Pasadena gathered for their first meeting of the year.

A brunch followed the swim and Mrs. Robert Ketenburg, official delegate to the sorority's national convention, held last June at Buena Vista Hotel in Bloomington, reported on the convalescence.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Anthony Boland and Mrs. John W. Rowe.

Diane Rowley
Has Birthday

Games were played and refreshments served at the party marking the sixth birthday anniversary of Diane Rowley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. Neal Rowley, 1400 Daverie.

Those in attendance were Cathy and Cory Hamilton, Bobby and Mary Jane Glaser, Dr. Wells, Laurie Dunn, Charles Leffingwell, David Whited and Ricky Harrison.

The guest of honor's two older sisters, Janice and Marilyn, assisted with the games and serving of refreshments.

Ralph Smith Home Is Scene
Of AOPi Tea, Meeting

Red Roses, official flower of Alpha Omicron Pi, were used extensively in decorations yesterday afternoon when the sorority entertained at a tea at the home of Mrs. Ralph Smith, 601 Madre, honoring Mrs. Walter McCain, national president.

Also feted at the tea were Mrs. Marshall Batcher, national treasurer; Mrs. John Waldron Jr., district collegiate director, and Mrs. Milton Stannard Jr., district alumnae director.

Guests included representatives of Panhellenics in the area, Deans John Schaefer of USC, Nola Stark Cavette of UCLA, Lois J. Swanson of Long Beach State, and alumnae from all over Southern California.

Mrs. Ray France, Palos Verdes, vice president of council, received the guests. Mrs. Grafton Linn, North Hollywood, was general chairman. Presiding at the tea table during the afternoon were Mrs. Verne McKinney, Miss Helen Haller and Mrs. Darnell Rasmussen, past national presidents;

Nursery School
Sets Potluck
Monday Night

Hastings Ranch Nursery School parents will gather for a potluck dinner Monday night in the Fellowship Hall of Trinity Presbyterian Church, and then hear Dr. Marion Durfee speak on "A Grade A Parent."

Dr. Durfee, of the Pasadena Child Guidance Clinic, is always a popular speaker in the Ranch. This meeting is the only general meeting of the nursery school scheduled for the fall.

Rudd Brown
Visits Ranch
Wed. Night

Rudd Brown, candidate for Congress from this district, will be guest at a meeting at 8 p.m. Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ingersoll, 1135 Valley View.

Hundreds of women of Hastings Ranch were on hand to welcome Mrs. Brown Tuesday at twin luncheons given at the homes of Mrs. John McKenna, 1180 Coronet, and Mrs. George Lenney, 1023 Medford.

The meeting next week is especially planned for the men of the area and the women who did not attend the luncheons, so they may have an opportunity to meet and talk with Mrs. Brown.

The meeting is open to all who wish to meet Mrs. Brown. No invitations are necessary.

Society Seeks Funds for Expansion

Pasadena Humane Society, a private non-profit organization, currently is conducting a fund-raising drive to triple its facilities to care for more than 15,000 pets annually.

The proposed expansion, for which plans have been completed and bids are being taken, will add an additional 7,000 square feet to the 55-year-old institution at 361 Raymond. Expansion plans were made by Breo Freeman, AIA architect.

Planned are 48 new kennels for dogs and 40 pens for cats as well as a new modern kitchen and maintenance facilities to enable the society to care for several hundred more pets per day.

According to Emmet L. Jones, manager, the society travels more than 50,000 miles yearly to assist residents in caring for their pets as well as to pick up lost and strayed animals. Forty-two different kinds of animals were cared for in 1957.

"Few people realize that this is not a function of the city," Mr. Jones said. The staff, facilities and all activities of the society are run by a board of directors composed of private citizens.

The organization is supported entirely by fees collected from the issuance of dog licenses and from donations of residents.

Along with the amazing population growth in this area has come a tremendous increase in the number of pets. Their service has been absorbed by the Humane Society and, said, Mr. Jones, "We're doing a good job, but we'll have to expand to effectively care for all of our 'guests'."

Surprise Party
For R. L. Farmer

Robert L. Farmer, 1010 Pepperhill, celebrated his birthday anniversary at a surprise dinner planned by his wife.

Those arriving with gaily wrapped gifts were Mr. and Mrs. C. Don Hays, Mr. and Mrs. Dominic F. Glangregorio, Mr. and Mrs. Brewster Benedict, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dunn and Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Dunn.

PREPARING ANNOUNCEMENTS for a community-wide forum on "The Lively Arts" are Mrs. William August, coordinator for the Pasadena Jewish Temple and Center, and Leonard Halpern, chairman of the lecture series.

Don Benito School PTA
Plans Roundup Oct. 18

Plans for Don Benito School's PTA "Roundup," scheduled for Oct. 18 from 10:30 a.m. until 4:30 p.m. on the school playgrounds, are being completed.

Among the diverse food items will be tacos, hot dogs and, of course, popcorn, cotton candy and sno-cones as well as a variety of soft drinks.

Hot coffee, homemade pies and cakes will be available at the dessert booth.

The young fry are sure to head straight for all the play rides that will be ready for use, including hot rods, the Townerville Trolley and ferries wheel.

Film Lecture on Finland Set by Community Forum

The second Community Forum will offer an all-color film lecture on Finland on Thursday, Oct. 9, at 7:45 p.m. in the Monrovia-Duarte High School auditorium. It is a picture of a great nation and its people.

"Finland" is an accurate well-balanced account of the history, agriculture, industry and architecture of an energetic country.

Community Forum season tickets may be purchased for $1.50 from the Monrovia-Duarte Evening High School or at the box office on the evening of the performance.

Mrs. McGraw
Heads Garden
Show Committee

Mrs. John McGraw has been named chairman of the Las Jardenas garden show committee, now at work on plans for the Hastings home and garden club landscape exhibit at the County Arboretum show set for the last of October.

Serving with Mrs. McGraw are Mrs. Harry Masser, Mrs. Martin Smith, Mrs. John Calmer, Mrs. Peter Lubisich, Mrs. Charles Coates and Mrs. Ray Lindman, Las Jardenas president.

This show will be the first major exhibit in the Pasadena area in several years and the first to be held at the arboretum.

Lively Arts
Forum Begins
This Month

Pasadena Jewish Temple and Center will sponsor a community-wide forum on "The Lively Arts" with a series of five lectures featuring outstanding speakers in the realm of literature, art, music, drama and law.

The first to appear in this series will be Michael Blankfort, well-known author who is a producer and writer at Columbia Pictures, on Sunday evening, Oct. 26.

Dr. Richard Brown, curator of art at Los Angeles County Museum, will appear Nov. 16.

The Jan. 18 performance will present Dr. Miklos Rozsa, top musical director at MGM and winner of an Academy Award two times. Joseph Schildkraut, Academy Award winning actor, is scheduled for Feb. 15.

The series will conclude with the appearance of Judge Stanley Mosk on March 15.

Leonard Halpern, forum chairman, and Mrs. William August, coordinator, have announced tickets for the series are available at the Center, 1434 N. Altadena Dr., Pasadena.

Pi Phi Juniors
Meet Tonight

Pi Beta Phi Juniors of Pasadena will have their first meeting of the club year tonight in the San Marino home of Mrs. John C. Flynn, 1240 Garfield, at 8. All Pi Phis in the area are invited.

Mrs. Richard Price, president, will preside and introduce Mrs. Russell E. Doty, president of the senior club, who was a delegate to this summer's convention.

Pack 379
Takes New Bobcats

Eight new Bobcats joined Eugene Field Cub Scout Pack 379 at the first pack meeting of the year. The boys are Robert Seares, Michael Hendrick, Robert Henkel, Stephen Forrest, Jeffrey Clark, Michael Fox, Lee Brittle and Michael Karas.

Two-year pins were awarded to Larry Herriott, Gary Nelson, Robin Thretheway, Bryan DuPuy, Gary Gillett, John Henkel, Steven Korell and Michael Forrest.

One-year pins went to Jeff Anderson, Jeff Aardahl, Bruce Burdick, Scott Cummins, Mark Hyde and Carter Ray.

Other awards: Wolf—Jerry Kingsley, Wolf badge, gold and five silver arrows; Warren Bacon, Tom Barnes, Edward Haver, Michael Hawkins, silver arrows; Jack Robinson, two silver arrows; Andy Linden, gold arrow.

Bear—Roger Cannon and Carter Ray, Bear badges and gold arrows; Jeff Anderson, two silver arrows; Jack Orswell, Bear badge, gold and silver arrows; Philip Baker, Bear badge; Jimmy Allison, silver arrow.

Lion—Larry Herriott, Lion badge.

Denner stripes were presented to Larry Herriott and Carter Ray, and assistant denner stripes to Bruce Burdick and Mark Wilson.

Robyn Knudson
Marks Birthday

Robyn Knudson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy R. Knudson, 975 Pepperhill, celebrated her 11th birthday anniversary last Saturday at a luncheon and swimming party.

Those young ladies in attendance included Gail Templar, Mary Lou Lieber, Katherine Kennelly, Nora Talbot and Jan Ostrander.

RESOURCES UP

First Western Bank and Trust Co. reported an increase of almost $70 million in total resources on Sept. 24, 1958, as compared with Oct. 11, 1957, according to an announcement by T. P. Coats, chairman of the Board and president of the state-wide banking system. The Sept. 24 "Call Report" showed total resources of $1,012,419,750 as opposed to $943,022,231 a year ago. The bank passed the billion-dollar milestone on June 30 of this year.

Big Albacore Run Near Morro Bay

By Al Miyadi

ALBACORE RUN—a topsy-turvy deep-sea fishing season was given an added fillup with the report of a major albacore run off Morro Bay. The fish are working an area some 40 miles northwest of Morro Bay in deep water, about 18 miles offshore.

A former San Diego albacore special, the Sundown, is operating on a daily (3 a.m.) basis from Sportsmen's Landing. Another boat, the Mermaid, formerly of Pierpoint, is also slated for action.

The fish are running big, to 40 pounds. Obviously, it's impossible and sheer recklessness to predict the length of an albacore run. Still, landing operators are confident the run will last at least for another two weeks or so.

In any case, it's still a four-hour ride to Morro Bay from Los Angeles.

WHITE SEA BASS—San Diego boats chalked up some fancy white sea bass counts this week. For the first time in almost two months, the white sea bass count topped the yellowtail tally (Sunday, 302 to 158).

Oceanside and San Clemente, too, are getting some white sea bass action. Daily counts here, however, average out to about 30 whites per day.

YELLOWTAIL—Yellowtail, still the champion game fish, are still with us and in record numbers.

Huge schools of yellows are reported foraging from Dana Point to the Deep Hole, two miles north of Pt. Dume. Surprising hot-spot is the Horseshoe Kelp.

However, the usual armada of Sunday outboards, inboards and party boats sent the yellows scattering.

For example, the San Pedro Special, out of Norm's, belted the yellows for all they were worth Friday, but limped back to port Saturday with only three.

Most consistent producer locally is Paradise Cove. Skiff fishermen there are having a field day, at least four limits off the tiny crafts were reported last week.

As elsewhere, the preferred bait still is mackerel, the bigger the better. Use of at least 15-pound test line is advised.

FRESHWATER—Santa Margarita Lake is red hot, according to chief grounds keeper Gurlee Murphee.

He says almost any kind of plug will turn the trick and limits are cheap. In addition, you can call the shot on bluegill and crappie.

The east and west forks of the San Gabriel River still are being stocked weekly with trout. Plenty of fish but on the small side. Maybe it's the autumn weather but trout counts have almost doubled since last week.

Another sizzler, mostly bass, is the Colorado River. Havasu Springs Resort says one angler brought in limits of bass four days straight.

ROOFTOP REHEARSAL... Considered one of the top ballerinas, Yvette Chauvire of Paris dances along a narrow wall atop the Royal Opera House in London with partner Alexis Rassine.

Travelogue Series Opens In San Gabriel

Travel is made easy for "arm chair" travelers who are patrons of the world Travelogue Series which opens at San Gabriel Civic Auditorium Oct. 20. The first travelogue will be "Yugoslavia" with Gene Wiancko, photographer, doing the narrating. Show starts at 8:20 p.m.

As in the past, the series will be presented on Mondays throughout the winter and will include color films of Germany, Norway, Panama and the Canal, Switzerland, the Philippines and Portraits of the Pacific.

All seats for the series are reserved and may be obtained at San Gabriel Civic Auditorium box office or by telephoning ATlantic 4-3277.

Pantheru Dance Presentation

Vibrant with resonant symbols is the stirring "Pantheru Dance," one of the many impressive ceremonies to be presented by Ceylon National Dancers during their five vivid performances in Royce Hall, University of California at Los Angeles, for three evenings at 8:30 and two 2:30 matinees, beginning Friday night, Oct. 17.

This ritual originally introduced and followed the consecrated Elephant carrying the Holy Tooth relic of Lord Buddha in one of the ancient holy processions.

Caltech to Install Earthquake Recorders

One-hundred small, inexpensive earthquake recorders developed by Caltech engineers will be installed in Los Angeles and San Francisco metropolitan areas within a year to help determine which soils absorb earth shocks better than others.

"The information we obtain will be of particular interest to building officials, especially in reference to commercial structures and bridges," said Dr. George W. Housner, professor of civil engineering and applied mechanics at the California Institute of Technology.

"We plan to place the devices on different types of geological formation to see what effect geology has on ground shaking," he explained yesterday.

"Los Angeles may be built on a dozen different types of alluvial soil. We want to know how much difference it makes to buildings whether they are on softer or firmer ground. It is likely to be found that structures will require more reinforcing when built on certain kinds of soil."

DR. HOUSNER and Dr. Donald E. Hudson, professor of engineering, designed the 8-pound 8-by-12-inch instruments. Once they are bolted to a basement floor or to a rock, they require no maintenance. They cost about $100 each.

The U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey and the National Science Foundation are supporting the project.

"Unlike expensive seismographs that measure small, distant quakes, the new instruments are adjusted to record earth motions in the immediate vicinity that are large enough to cause structural damage," Dr. Housner explained.

This would be the equivalent of the ground motion within 15 miles of the epicenter of a magnitude 7 shock.

IN ESSENCE, the instrument is a pendulum capable of swinging in all directions and topped with an inverted smoked watch glass 2½ inches in diameter. Motions of the earth cause the glass to move—the heavier the shock, the greater the movement.

Gently touching the glass is the point of a needle, attached by tension spring to the frame from which the pendulum swings. The needle etches into the smoked coating a pattern showing the intensity and direction of the earth movement. The glass is removable and the record may be made permanent by dipping the glass in laquer.

Dr. Housner said it will take several years to obtain the information from the two large metropolitan areas. Later, other areas of California will be surveyed for installations.

One of the instruments is being sent to Chile and another to India, he added, for possible studies in those nations.

JUST AN EMPTY ROOM... Mrs. Frances Moore, language teacher in the 11th and 12th grades of Hall High School, Little Rock, sits in her classroom without pupils after Gov. Faubus ordered schools closed.

To Celebrate 20th Year

Casa Colina will celebrate its 20th year of service to the Southland's crippled children by staging a barbecue feast, professional variety show and amateur talent contest Oct. 26 starting at 1 p.m.

A volunteer planning committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Bea Fovall, has announced many leading junior colleges in Southern California have indicated a willingness to participate in the affair by student representatives in the talent contest.

Many Hollywood personalities have already committed themselves to be on hand to judge contestants and perform. Mrs. Fovall has stated.

ed the main problem at this time is solving the need for contributions of food.

Casa Colina, located at Highway 71 and Pipeline in Chino, is a non-profit convalescent home and rehabilitation center for crippled children, offering medical treatment to both in-patients and out-patients regardless of restriction including ability to pay.

THE A. C. ONGS of Trevan Road are back in the fold after a busy summer. Last weekend the entire family went to Devonshire Downs for the annual Sheriff Posse Roundup which lasts three days. The weekend before,

Careless Feeding Produces Trichinae in Swine

There is no reason why pork should not be a part of everyone's diet. Not only is it succulent in flavor, but it is also a wholesome food rich in protein, fat and Vitamin B!

Occasionally, however, due to careless feeding by swine raisers, pigs come to market with tiny worms called trichinae lodged in their muscles. If these tiny worms are swallowed while they are still alive, they can cause in humans a troublesome disease called trichinosis.

Fortunately, there is one simple precaution, which, if strictly adhered to, will kill these worms, render them harmless, and make the pork safe to eat.

The precaution is: Cook all pork thoroughly.

WHEN A PERSON eats raw or under-done pork or pork products which may contain trichinae, the digestive juices in his stomach dissolve the delicate covering which encases each worm. The irritation produced by this activity in the intestines causes nausea, vomiting and diarrhea within 24 to 48 hours. But this is only the beginning.

Then, each female parasite gives birth to hundreds of larvae. The parent worms are eventually expelled from the body through the intestines. The tiny young parasites get into the blood stream and are carried to the muscles. There, each one coils up and is encased in a covering exactly as its parents had been in the muscles of the hog.

Sometimes, the larvae not only penetrate the muscles, but also get into the lungs, heart, brain, spinal fluid, and other parts of the body, causing a confusing variety of symptoms.

Many of the symptoms mimic those of other diseases and vary so greatly that diagnosis is difficult. These symptoms include swelling of the face and other parts of the body, soreness in the eyes, hemorrhages under the skin, sore throat, headache, fever, pain in the muscles, and difficult breathing. Fortunately, however, tests have been developed which aid greatly in making a correct diagnosis.

Keep These

Choices in mind

and you'll be
HOT WATER HAPPY
 meal after meal after meal!

1 Choose a Gas Water Heater!
 Gas heats water three times faster... easily keeps ahead of the demands of automatic washing machines, dish washers and growing families. Gas costs less, too.

2 Choose Right Size!
 Your plumber's approved sizing chart shows the proper size automatic Gas water heater for your family. Don't buy an inadequate heater. It overworks—won't last as long nor serve you as well as the right size heater.

3 Choose Quality!
 One good way to select a quality Gas water heater that won't rust is to make sure it carries the Verified Long Life Seal shown here—or insist on a 10-year warranty when you order.

It's easy to buy a new automatic Gas water heater. You can give your plumber all the details he needs over the telephone. You may even arrange convenient terms, credit and financing with him over the telephone.

Mrs. Richard Lawyer Is Avid Cook, Seamstress

By Toni Maurin
SYcamore 7-9634

Mrs. Richard E. (Dottie) Lawyer, 315 E. Orange Grove, loves to cook, and as a result she does it with little effort.

The following recipe was requested by several people who have had it at her home. It makes a filling dish, simple to prepare and every bit as tasty as the original recipe.

LASAGNA

15-20 Lasagna noodles, cooked, drained
1 lb. jack cheese grated
1 pint small curd cottage cheese

Sauce:

1 lb. ground round steak browned
2 8-oz. cans tomato sauce
2 tbs. salad oil
2 pkgs. Lowery's spaghetti sauce, mix
3 cans water.

Combine spaghetti sauce, tomato sauce, water, oil and browned meat. Simmer for 30 minutes.

In a flat baking dish, alternate layers of lasagna noodles, sauce, jack cheese, and cottage cheese, to one inch from top of dish, ending with sauce and cheese on top. Sprinkle parmesan cheese over all of top and bake at 325° F. for one hour.

GREEN BEANS
VINAIGRETTE

1 can (1 lb. whole green beans drained
2 tbs. vinegar
2 tbs. chopped onions
1 tbs. sweet pickle relish
1/4 tsp. salt
2 tbs. salad oil
1 tbs. chopped parsley
1 tbs. chopped pimento
1/4 tsp. sugar
1 hard cooked egg grated
Chill drained green beans. Blend together all the rest of the ingredients but the egg. Arrange beans in lettuce cups and spoon sauce over top. Grate a little egg on each salad.

TOSTADO COMPUESTO

8 tortillas
1 1/2-lb. can chili con carne with beans
1 cup grated onion
3 tbs. salad oil
1 cup grated cheddar cheese
2 cups shredded lettuce
Fry tortillas in oil very quickly, but NOT crisp. Have chili con carne piping hot.

Alternate tortillas, beans, cheese, and onion, ending with beans on top. Just before serving, cover with shredded lettuce. Serves 4.

AS I SAID, Mrs. Lawyer loves to cook and considers it one of her hobbies. Her next favorite hobby is sewing, which she does with a real flair. She has made everything, including some of the drapes, for their lovely home, clothes for the entire family, and many of her Christmas gifts. She enjoys designing clothes and has created several stunning outfits for herself. She also knits but it has been a secondary thing with her.

Both Dottie and Dick are avid fishermen and have managed to get down to Las Cruces, Mexico, for two weeks every May to fish. Up until this year they have flown down in their own plane.

The Lawyers recently celebrated their 22nd wedding anniversary. They have two children, Linda, 9 and Denny, 11. Mrs. Lawyer feels that now is the time the children need her the most and gives unstintingly of her time to them. She is serving this year as a Blue Bird leader for Linda's troop.

Mr. Lawyer is owner-president of the Lawyer Construction Co. and is presently working on building houses in West Covina near their newly completed Sun-Fran Shopping Center.

Their home lies on the edge of a 10-acre lemon grove with a beautiful approach of rolling lawn. The yard is well equipped for the pleasure of their children with a great swing hanging from a high branch of the trees and a sparkling swimming pool on an upper level.

Anoakia Initiates New Girls

Ralph Smith

Following initiation, the members of the blue and white teams into which the student body is divided, Blue and white 'A's' were awarded to girls who earned their letter last year. A movie was shown in chapel and a picnic supper was served.

side, assisted by Mrs. James Haynes, junior president.

Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. William Knight, chairman, Mrs. Frank Wheeler, Mrs. James Haynes and Mrs. Robert Wick.

The program for the evening will be "The Use of Wines With Dinner."

All AOP's in the area are invited and reservations may be made with Mrs. William Knight or Mrs. Frank Wheeler.

Advice is cheap—and it's usually appreciated in accordance with what it costs.

Pessimistic people manage to dodge a lot of good things that are headed their way.
